TV SOCIETY . . .

"Mr. Coffee, Mr. Dimaggio actually, I'd like you to meet Mrs. Olson."

"THE Mrs. Olson. Delightful. You do keep Mr. Coffee perking. I haven't been so busy since Dom and I were in the Majors," says Mr. Dimaggio.

"How did you do it?" asks Mrs. Olson.

"How did I do what?" responds Mr. Coffee, er Mr. Dimaggio.

"Hit so many baseballs. And weren't you at the White House the other day getting a Freedom Medal from Mr. Ford?"

"Yes, but Dom couldn't make it, to the White House, I mean. And I just swung a lot of times. And that wasn't THE Mr. Ford, but Mr. Ford, the outgoing president."

"Of course, Mr. Coffee, er Mr. Dimaggio!"

"Isn't that Mr. Whipple over there squeezing something?" asks Mrs. Olson, adding, "I hope it's just tissue."

"Oh, Whipple wouldn't do anything but his job, and he sure sells a lot of that stuff," Mr. Coffee, er Mr. Dimaggio says.

"Hey, Whipple, who's the big guy with his back turned, the big guy with the green. . .legs on?"

"Kind of a snob, really," Mr. Whipple says. "Stands off with his hands on his hips and lets out the loudest guffaw in the studio. I think the hostess says his name is Green or Giant or something like that."

"Well he at least keeps his hands to himself," Mr.Coffee, er Mr. Dimaggio says, watching Whipple do his act.

Several ladies admonish Mr. Whipple for practicing his commercial off camera.

"What if Mother Nature saw that silly grin at a reception like this?" asks a bald-headed man not quite as big as Mr. Giant.

"What's it to you, Clean?" inquires Mr. Coffee, er Mr. Dimaggio.

Mr. Clean says nothing. He stands Indian-like, with his arms folded and a smug look on his face, glowing.

"What, no 'ho, ho ho!' Clean? You and Whipple ought to put your acts together!" Mr. Coffee, er Mr. Dimaggio says.

"It could be worse," Mr. Clean smiles. "I could do a Kojak and give you an 'abadaba do, baby,' and like that."

"Come on, Clean, Kojak's not commercial. That's a trademark, a style. So his head's shaved. Where's your sunglasses and lollypop?"

"I'm not green either," Mr. Clean tells Mr. Coffee, er Mr. Dimaggio, "but I'm more believabe that that White Knight standing in the hallway."

"Oh, he's retired," Mr. Coffee, er Mr. Dimaggio says of Mr. Knight. "But I hear they're using his voice to call Mr. Tuna, you know Charlie."

"Are you sure Giant isn't doing that bit?" Whipple asks of Coffee, er Dimaggio and Clean.

"Maybe so," Mr. Clean says, "but I understand Charlie takes a lot of sea water with all those gambits and he hasn't landed anything but an apology."

"I know just the gal Charlie ought to meet. Hey, Charlie, Charlie Tuna, over here. I'd like to introduce you to a friend," Mr. Coffee, er Mr. Dimaggio says.

"Me, out of water, you want me to actually catch somebody?" Mr. Tuna says.

"Absolutely, Charlie, She's new, but she's mature and interested in people's, uh creatures' problems."

"Not Mrs. Olson. She's always busting into somebody's act. I need a real friend," Mr. Tuna says.

"Now, now," says the lady on Mr. Coffee's, er Mr. Dimaggio's arm.

"Charlie, I'd like you to meet Mother Tums."

"There, there," Mother Tums says, "where does it hurt?"

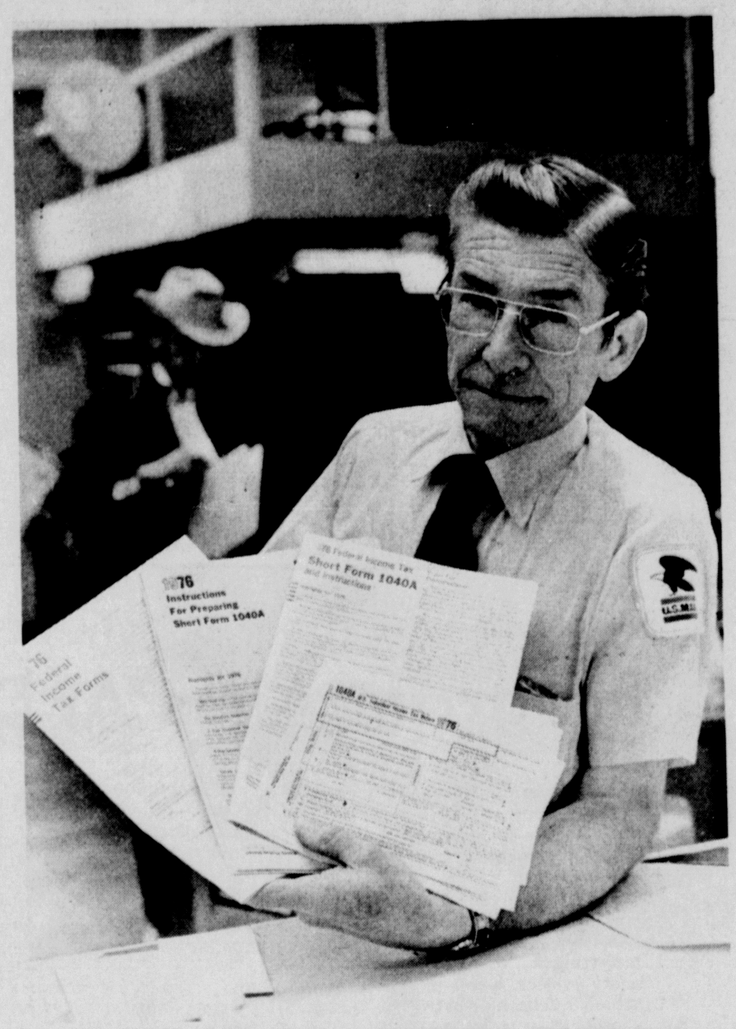
The White Knight falls down laughing.



IT'S THAT TIME AGAIN, and Postal Clerk Bill Peck displays IRS income tax forms available at the post office. Most taxpayers have received forms through the mail, but additional forms are available. This year there are some changes in the tax laws, so taxpayers should read the information in their packets before completing the forms.

FRIGID WINTER STORM RUPTURES GAS LINE

A major natural gas line break in Cameron Monday night for a time threatened the gas supply for the city and Lone Star Gas Co. enlisted the help of city and county officials to request residents to cut down on their usage. But the line was repaired by midnight and at no time was the gas cut off.

The breakage was attributed to the extreme cold which came with the worst winter storm of the season, sweeping down from Canada and the Arctic. Cameron and area schools were closed Monday when natural gas was curtailed in about 400 cities in order to insure an adequate supply for homes.

Cameron's official low was 14 on Monday morning on the weather information thermometer at the water plant, but residents reported lower temperatures in some areas. One Branchville resident said her thermometer registered 9 degrees Monday morning.

Grady Allen, local Lone Star Gas manager, said extreme cold causes expansion and contraction of the soil, and said the six-inch main pulled apart around 709 South College at 9 p.m. Monday. He said it was the main feeder line into the city and work went forward quickly to repair the break and this was completed at midnight.

City police, the volunteer firemen, sheriff's department and DPS troopers cooperated to warn residents by sirens and loud speakers to curtail their gas usage until the pressure was restored. Pilot lights were turned off on appliances before word was passed by a television news bulletin that they could be turned back on.

The gas company servicemen were busy Tuesday morning answering calls from residents who needed assistance in relighting pilot lights.

Allen expressed appreciation to the law enforcement officials for their help and to Johnny Barrett for the use of his sound truck.

As things began to thaw out Monday afternoon and Tuesday, many residents discovered that some water pipes had frozen and burst, and Olan Armstrong, local plumber, reported Tuesday morning that he had received 54 calls so far to repair burst pipes. He said he was expecting more calls as pipes thawed from their frozen condition as the day got warmer.

Alvin Hefft, water and streets superintendent, said the official low for Monday morning was 14 degrees. Sunday morning's low was 21 and the temperature never got past 23 degrees on Sunday. Tuesday's low was 23 degrees.

Hefft said so far nocity water lines were broken but he did know of a number of broken lines at residences as people called the water department to come out and cut off their water until repairs could be made.

Cameron schools, along with Rockdale, Buckholts, and Rogers schools, were closed Monday as gas was curtailed to schools and industries in the area in an effort to assure an adequate supply to homes. However, the industries in Cameron remained open Monday.

According to weather forecasters, Monday's weather extremes were part of unusual circulation patterns which have been noted since November.

At least the county was spared ice and snow which covered highways in the northern part of Central Texas on Sunday and Monday. The icing conditions were in weather forecasts Saturday, but the area remained relatively dry though extremely cold.

Commissioners OK Help For Allen

Milam County Commissioners Court voted Monday to hire a deputy district clerk to assist Grady Allen, whose office has such a work load that help is needed.

County Judge O. B. Harden, in discussing the move, stated that Harris, Havens & Co., the auditing firm which audited the county's books, said the district clerk's office records were not complete and they were unable to audit them completely.

The auditor reported that Allen stated he did not have time to fool with the audit and at first refused the offer of help. Upon consulting with District Judge Don Humble, Allen agreed to the hiring of a clerk to help out in his office. He asked for a "chief deputy clerk" whose salary would be higher than that of a plain deputy clerk, but commissioners voted to hire a deputy clerk at a salary of $473 a month.

Harden said the auditor reported that nothing was missing in the district clerk's office, but better records needed to be kept, since the office handles quite a bit of money.

The county judge reported to commissioners that Tax Assessor-Collector Valter White has asked that one of his clerks be named a deputy. The judge said White needs field deputies. This will be placed on the agenda of a future meeting.

In other business, commissioners tabled the procedure of closing Fifth St. in Milano, and discussed how revenue funds may be spent.

The court also approved appointments of John Andres as county auditor for the next two years, and the hiring of Will McIntosh as county probation officer.

Bonds were approved for county officials elected in the November general election including John Henderson, Leroy Broadus, Adolph Gresak, Gerald Vinton, Jim Swanzy, Maurice Lowrey, Griss Wells, Spud Caywood, Finis Voyles, John Zajicek, Leonard Pelzel, and P. L. Paris.

Judge Harden will contact County Agent Bill McCutchen about his Extension office moving into the old tax office in the courthouse basement. The Extension office is currently paying rent for office space.

Commissioners authorized Harden to contact Thomas Y. Pickett & Co. about an evaluation of oil and gas property in the county.

In a discussion of voter registration funds, Harden said the funds should be used to pay cost of handling voter registration by clerks in the tax office. Andres said if White furnishes his office with a bill, it will be paid out of the funds.

In discussion of the agenda for Thursday's regular meeting, Harden said city representatives will appear and request the increasing of the county's share of fire calls from $800 to $1,200 a year.

Museum Group Makes Plans For Members Drive

Plans for a membership drive for the Milam County Museum were discussed at a meeting of the organization on Tuesday afternoon, with Tom Underwood and D. R. Dodson named to head the campaign.

Schools will be cotacted about involving students in the campaign, which would be a way of contacting most families in the county. Plans call for offering individual, student, family, club, and business memberships.

The group will meet again in two weeks, on Jan. 25, for further discussion of the drive, and also for organizing plans for accepting exhibits for the museum.

Much appreciation was expressed for the work done by the FFA boys and girls from Yoe High who installed steel bars in the doors and windows, which are all of different sizes.

It was also noted that display cases are being readied for exhibits, some large ones being cut in half to fit designated spaces.

Savings & Loan Association Cites Increase In Assets

Ben Milam Savings & Loan, in a letter to stockholders this week, declared increases in assets, savings, and interest paid. It noted increases over 1975 in all three categories.

At the close of 1976, assets totaled $5,772,004, an increase of some $2-121,822 over 1975. Savings deposits stand at $5,149,367 which represent an increase of $1,875,883 over the previous year. The association paid interest totaling $276,738, the largest amount paid since it was organized.

The association in 1976 invested $1,868,546 in mortgage loans, according to Sid Duderstadt, association manager.

The first branch office was opened on July 1 in Rockdale.

More than 500 members of the Blackland Income Growth program are expected to attend the 15th annual meeting in Waco on January 18, according to J. G. Dobbs, BIG chairman.

Beginning with registration at 8:45 a.m., the meeting will be held in the Waco Convention Center.

County Agent Bill McCutchen said usually there is a good delegation of farmers and ranchers from the county who attend the BIG programs. Anyone who needs a ride is invited to contact him at the County Extension office.

The BIG program is deisnged to aid farm and ranch operators throughout the Blacklands of central and north central Texas and is sponsored by Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Everyone interested in agriculture is invited to the meeting.

"We have put together a program facing the current problems that exist for food and fiber producers in the Blacklands today," Dobbs pointed out. The annual meeting will conclude at 1:45 p.m. following a business meeting where the election of BIG officers for 1977-78 will be held.

The formal program will begin at 9:45 a.m. with: "New Requirements in Pesticide Applications-Education, Certification, and Enforcement," David Ivie, director of Agriculture.

At 12 noon a dutch treat barbecue luncheon will be held with Bill Collier, president of the Texas County Agricultural Agents Association, giving the invocation.

During the luncheon the BIG business meeting will be held which will include recognition of guests, treasurer's report, nominating committee report, and the election of officers.

At 1 p.m. Dr. Ronald Knutson, economist-marketing and policy, Texas A&M University, will present "The Agricultural Policy Outlook in the Carter Administration."

Following the formal presentations there will be a questions and answer period.

At the close of the meeting there will be two separate seminars, one on seed certification in Texas and another which will offer full explanation of the proposed beef referendum.

The dutch treat barbecue luncheon tickets are $3.50 and reservations may be made through any County Extension Agent's Office.

Passenger Hurt In Collision

A two-vehicle traffic accident around 3:30 p.m. Saturday resulted in injuries to one passenger and damage to both vehicles. The accident occurred eight miles south of Cameron on SH 36.

Dorothy Horner of New Orleans, La., was treated and released from St. Edward Hospital in Cameron for head injuries suffered when her head struck the windshield of the car in which she was a passenger.

The car, driven by her brother-in-law, Gerald Leban of New Orleans who is a soldier stationed at Fort Hood, was in collision with a pickup driven by Gus Beckhusen of Rt. 3, Cameron.

Board Postpones Monday Meeting

A new agenda will be prepared for the meeting which will start at 7:30 p.m. in the Ben Milam School office.

CURBING GOES DOWN in continuing work in the northeast section of the city. These workers were out hard at it Tuesday, completing sections some of which had been delayed due to continuing bad weather. A large number of streets in the area have already been curbed.

For Your Maturity . . .

Later this month, The Herald will begin its fourth Courses by Newspaper which examines the moral dilemmas of this society, its faltering institutions and the forces which are often called "future shock."

This presentation is 16 installments by nationally and internationally recognized sociologists, philosophers, psychologists, theologians of the mid-20th Century. It is a project of the University Extension, University of California, San Diego.

It is no discussion of simple solutions to these complexities. More questions may arise than are answered.

But the substance of modern uncertainty, instability and dichotomy will be broached by some of the best minds in print.

What is discussed is not new. What is new is that so much now occurs or so much is now known that the human species is having collective and individual problems of deciding when to change, what to change, how to change, or not to change.

The central cities are jungles, at least every sixth hospital bed is occupied by a mental patient, the oldest institutions are in question, stability is a most sought-after goal.

"Moral Choices in Contemporary Society" is no Sunday School lesson. It is an examination of the things that we are or contend with daily.

It is important that non-metro readers, as well as those who live in major cities, are aware that the same forces affect both places. If there is a hiding place, it is either temporary or remote from a reality that both mesmerizes and self-destructs.

Modern people want action and individuality. And it may be they can't have both. Philip Reff, Jean Lipman-Blumen, Christopher Lasch, Daniel J. Callahan, Robert W. Tucker, Lon Fuller, Ernest Van Den Haag, John P. Sisk, Hans Jonas, Martin E. Marty, and Kenneth B. Clark discuss the alternatives.

We recommend this series for your maturity.

Without Shattering . . .

There are at least three ways a person reveals himself (or herself):

ONE) In primary vocation

TWO) Outside vocation, the basic person

THREE) Throughout, the complete, if identifiable person.

Fewer people are identifiably complete in modern times, because of the schizophrenic times in which we live.

We are generally several people, not as fragmented as multi-personality "Eve," but revealing aspects of the whole person, perhaps not even known to the individual himself (or herself).

Alter egos show up in "moods," brief revelations of a person in unusual attitudes or circumstances or even predictable modes of behaviour which in sum are the real person.

These egos are probably at various stages or ages of development, such as mature responses to one set of problems, childish responses to another set.

What seems to bring a person together, "really together" is training the aspects of the person and allowing those skills and traits to experience and mature.

High skill areas can allow a person to stay immature in other behavior, varying with what is considered "old" or "young."

The final test of the whole person is how these aspects of personality, different as they might be, are rounded into the whole personality, revealing an integrated network of strength among the various "people" we are in varied circumstances.

The final test also may be awareness of the complexity of the individual and remembering a "whole" person is able to cope, to anticipate, and to adapt to change without shattering because of previous realities.

Program Aims At Dope Smugglers

A new $1 million program designed to catch dope smugglers along the 800-mile Texas-Mexico border has been approved.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe's Criminal Justice Division authorized a grant for the Department of Public Safety project, which will include a helicopter patrol.

Atty. Gen. John Hill, who had been turned down on a smaller request to step up his investigation of the narcotics traffic in Starr County, applauded approval of the DPS grant and welcomed cooperative efforts of state and federal agencies.

Smuggling of marijuana, heroin, automobiles, people and securities will be the target of the DPS special unit.

Undercover and uniformed agents and civilian back-up personnel will work with DPS officers already assigned to the South Texas area.

About four to five million pounds of marijuana are distributed in Texas each year with an annual dollar volume of between $360 million and $675 million. Mexico has replaced Asia as the primary source of heroin in Texas.

Under the budget for the "South Texas Border Stepped-Up Law Enforcement Program" $400,000 will go to purchase of evidence, surveillance, expenses and informer fees. Helicopter operations are budgeted at $135,000 and other transportation and office expenses for $144,400.

Another $94,242 will go to personnel, $261,800 for travel, $30,000 for upgrading radio communications equipment and $9,838 for office equipment.

Implementation of the project by DPS began immediately.

Briscoe Unhappy

Gov. Dolph Briscoe frowned on proposed acquisition of "mitigation lands" to ease environmental impact of Palmetto Bend project on the Navidad River near Edna.

Briscoe expresses himself to the Department of Interior in response to an official inquiry as to his position on the issue.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and some environmental groups want to establish a 4,000 acre wildlife refuge to soften impact of destroying wildlife habitat by the 11,000-acre reservoir. That would add between $3 and $4 million to cost of the $74.3 million Palmetto project.

"The overall project is over half complete, and the dam is one third constructed. Acquisition of mitigation properties at this late date is untimely, could severely delay the project and would adversely affect economic and financial arrangements already in place," Briscoe wrote Acting Secretary of Interior Kent Frizzell.

Tax Cut Sought

A potentially-powerful lobbying group, the Texas Conservative Union, announced its formation last week and listed a one per cent cut in the state sales tax as its No. 1 goal.

The group, whose top officers and staff members, include key supporters of Ronald Reagan for president last year, is aiming to sign up 10,000 members by June. Its lobbying budget for the session is $125,000, according to Executive Director Calvin Rucker of Cedar Park.

Courts Speak

A U.S. district judge in Dallas held a television newsman must be allowed to film executions at the state prison.

The State Supreme Court upheld lower court rulings rejecting a $160,000 malpractice suit against an Odessa neurosurgeon who left a small metal clip near a man's spinal canal to mark a disc operation.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

For years, before women announced they have brains too, men have been poking fun at the vunerability of women to fashion.

If some guy in Paris with a hard-to-pronounce name--and the harder the more authoritative he is--says women's skirts are to be short women flock to the stores to buy short ones, excusing those who know how to use a pair of scissors. If the guy the next year says skirts are to be long, women rush to buy long ones, including those who find scissors won't work this time.

To a lot of men, this being a slave to fashion was hilarious. "Let some fop in Paris or New York tell women what to wear and they fall in line like sheep going over a cliff or swallows returning to Capistrano," they said.

The joke has now played out. On account of men's vests.

A year ago a man was fully dressed, from the President to the Emperor of Japan, up and down, if he had on a two-piece suit. The some fashion designer--you reckon it was a woman with a wicked sense of humor?--delcared men will now wear vests. Like women and swallows returning to Capistrano men complied. Even in the summer time.

I first noticed this when President Ford last year showed up at a press conference wearing a vest. At the moment I supposed it was a bullet-proof thing, ordered by the Secret Service, but now I was informed, a bullet-proof vest is worn under the shirt and has little chance of catching on generally, slaves to fashion or not. It can't be seen and besides it itches. What he was wearing was a geniune, fashionable vest, the kind you see the groom wearing in wedding pictures 50 years ago.

Well sir, it wasn't long before more and more vests started showing up, even on the hard-nosed reporters covering the President. Men everywhere rushed to get on the fashion bandwagon, you might say with woman-like obedience.

My only reaction to this is regret; regret that years ago, due to a lack of far-sightedness, I threw away a perfectly good vest. I've still go the pants and coat.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

The Lonely Heart.

Letters TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor:

President-elect Jimmy Carter may consider himself a Conservative but he has surrounded himself with possibly the most liberal, one-world advocates ever.

During the campaign he boasted of being independent and a Washington outsider. This is hardly true. He has been influenced and controlled by the Rockefeller's over three years. This explains his sudden rise in power and identity from a virtual unknown to president. During his nearly two years of campaigning he never lacked funds.

In 1973 David Rockefeller invited Jimmy Carter to Paris where he became a leading member of the Trilateral Commission, a private group Rockefeller organized to solve common problems of the U.S., Western Europe, and Japan working toward internationalism. This Commission is related to the Council on Foreign Relations, a Rockefeller organization which controls Washington politics and the political and financial aspects of the world. The four powerful leaders of the Trilateral Commission are: Jimmy Carter; Walter Mondale, his vice-presidential nominee; Zbigniew Brzezinski, his National Security Advisor; and Cyrus R. Vance, his Secretary of State. The Rockefeller silence should alarm you.

Rep. Andrew Young (Ga.) U. S. Ambassador to the United National; Rep. Brock Adams (Wash.), Secretary of Transporatation; and Rep. Robert Bergland (Minn.), Secretary of Agriculture, are all very liberal and socialistic. Their voting records on ten important recent issues are practically identical. They are: against a balanced budget, for using public funds for abortion, forincreasing the national debt limit, for surrending the Panama Canal, for delaying funding for the B-1 bomber for national defense, for teaching the religion of secular humanism (atheism) in the schools, for the expensive Swine Flu immunization program, for a $3.95 billion unneeded make-work jobs, and public works program, for the ineffective, overstaffed, and over-budgeted Federal Energy Administration, and the potential fraud post card registration. Bergman voted against using public funds for abortion.

Cyrus Vance, Secretary of State, is involved in interrelated organizations promoting world government and international socialism: the Bilderberg's, Council of Foreign Relations, Trilater Commission, and the Rockefeller Foundation.

Senate confirms presidential appointments.

Directory Assistance Charging

We don't want your 20¢

Directory Assistance charging is now in effect statewide.

Basically, the plan calls for charging 20 cents for every call to Directory Assistance over the first 10 made during a monthly billing period.

Quite frankly, we don't want your 20 cents.

Our objective in charging for Directory Assistance is to reduce the spiraling cost of providing the service — a cost that has skyrocketed due to misuse rather than wise use.

Studies showed that some customers call Directory Assistance 25, 50 or 100 times a month from their homes. Some businesses called more than 2,000 times a month! And yet, 75 percent of the numbers requested were in the telephone directory.

Yet, the cost of excessive use of Directory Assistance was borne by all telephone rate-payers. Thus, we introduced the charge because it is the only way we can handle the rising costs of Directory Assistance fairly. The people who use Directory Assistance the most will now pay the most.

Here's how the plan works:

Customers with single-line basic service who call Directory Assistance (1411) more than 10 times during a monthly billing period will be charged 20 cents for every call after their tenth. A maximum of two numbers may be requested during each call to Directory Assistance. Multi-line customers will have an additional allowance of one call for each line, up to 25 lines.

The Directory Assistance Charge also applies to calls for numbers in other towns within your home Area Code — with one important exception. You won't be charged for calling Directory Assistance in another town that has the same Area Code as yours provided you make a corresponding Long Distance call within your home Area Code. That call has to be placed from and billed to your own phone within the same monthly billing cycle.

To request numbers in other towns with the same Area Code as yours, continue to dial 1-555-1212.

There is no charge for requesting numbers that have a different Area Code than yours. Just dial 1, plus the Area Code, then 555-1212.

Also, there is no charge for Directory Assistance calls from coin telephones or from hospitals.

Some customers not charged.

Visually and physically handicapped people who are unable to use the directory will be exempt from the charge. If you think you, or someone in your family, or a friend may be entitled to this exemption, please fill out the coupon below for more information.

If you're like most people, you'll never be affected by the Directory Assistance charge. In fact, in cities where Directory Assistance charging was already in effect with a five-call allowance, only 5 percent of customers were ever charged each month.

More importantly, 95 percent were not. This certainly indicates that 10 free calls a month will more than meet your needs if you can't find a number in the directory.

So look in the book before you call. It will save you 20 cents that we don't want.

Apply Dormant Spray To Pecan Trees Now

Many homeowners frequently call and ask how to get rid of the galls that have formed on the leaves and stems of their pecan trees. If you wait until the galls have already formed on the leaves, there is no way to control the insect that was responsible for forming the gall (the insect culprit knwon as the pecan phyllaxera in now inside the gall).

If you want to reduce the number of galls on your pecan trees in 1977 a dormant oil should be applied to trees in January or February. Now is the time to recognize the problem and make arrangements to take care of this problem.

Why Spray in Winter?

During the dormant season pecan phylloxera are overwintering in the egg srage usually in crevices of the bark on the trunk and major scaffold limbs.

An application of a dormant oil will prevent pecan phylloxera from hatching and feeding on tender plant tissue in the spring.

This dormant oil application will also kill obscure scale if the entire tree including the previous years growth is sprayed.

Points to Remember

1. Thorough coverage of the tree trunk and major scaffold limbs of each tree is necessary to obtain good control of pecan phylleoxera. To control obscure scale and phylloxera treat the entire tree, to include the previous years growth.

2. Dormant oils should be applied when the temperature is between 40 degrees to 70 degrees F. Avoid applying oils when freezing weather is likely within 48 hours after application.

3. For best-results, dormant oil should be applied in late winter or early spraying just before the buds begin to break. The technique of applying an insecticide at budbreak stage will be discussed later in the season.

Mixture of Oil & Water

Dormant Oil	Water
1/4 pint	1 gal.
2 1/2 pints	10 gal.
3 1/2 gals.	100 gal.

Failure to control pecan phylloxera will result in premature leaf loss on pecan trees. Pecan trees that retain leaves until the first frost each year are producing more food reserves necessary for good nut crops the following year.

More Funds Needed For Ag Research

Texas must spend more on agricultural research if the state is to move ahead and become No. 1 in agricultural income, a goal set by Governor Dolph Briscoe, a state representative told scientists with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station here Jan. 5.

Joe A. Hubenak of Rosenberg, chairman of the agriculture and livestock committee, emphasized that California spends $8.69 for every federal dollar designated for agricultural research, while Texas supports research with only $1.69 for each federal research dollar.

Hubanek, also a member of the Southern Legislative Conference Committee on Agriculture and Rural Development since 1974, has served in the Texas legislature since 1968.

The Burleson Countyne tive told almost 500 agricultural cientists who are partikipating in the annual Experiment Station professional conference at Texas A&M University that the total success of food and fiber efforts of the future are keyed to agricultural scientists and Extension educators.

Hubenak, wh o served as chairman of the interim study committee on the imported fire ant problem, said, "we are looking to Experiment Station scientists to help solve this critical problem, as well as other current concerns such as the livestock industry's animal health problems, including brucellosis."

America's future can be as bright as its citizens permit it to be, Hubenak said, emphasizing that there is a strong need to return to an orderly society. "The crime rate has risen rapidly during the past decade, and lawand order should have a high priority with civil obedience rather than disobedience the goal," he said.

'Little Tex' Sells TAP

AUSTIN--A tow-headed character called "Little Tex" will be the master salesman for TAP (Texas Agricultural Products) in 1977, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has announced.

Introduced at the State Fair in Dallas, Little Tex was conceived as a complement to Big Tex, the mammoth symbol of the Fair. The cartoon character is now appearing on all TAP promotional material and will be featured on a float, which will be seen in parades across the state.

Little Tex will also become a symbol of good nutrition for school children when a pilot program with the Houston Independent School District is completed. The study material will be available to all schools.

ONE MORE REMINDER comes from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service about those crop and livestock questionnaires.

About 75,000 Texas agricultural producers have or will be receiving a crop or livestock questionnaire.

If you do receive such a form, you are requested to fill it out as accurately as possible and return it promptly.

These will be the basis for determining the financial balance sheet for Texas agriculture, our state's most basic and important industry.

Entries Increase For Stock Show

Six of the 20 performances of the World's Original Indoor Rodeo Jan. 29 through Feb. 6 have been sold out, and livestock entries of cattle, sheep, and swine for the accompanying 81st annual Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show are about 6 percent ahead of last year.

The dual announcement was made this week by W. R. Watt Jr., Stock Show and Rodeo general manager.

"Rodeos at 8 p.m. on the two Fridays, Saturdays, and Sundays have been sold out," Watt said. "Good selection of seats can be purchased for the weekday matinee and evening rodeo performances. We encourage rodeo fans to purchase their tickets early for better selection.

The rodeo ticket office is located in the lobby of Will Rogers Memorial Coliseum. Sales counters are open from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m daily, including Sunday. Mail order tickers can be obtained by writing P.O. Box 150, Fort Worth, TX 76101. Tickets for 2 p.m. weekday matinees are $3 each, and all other rodeos are priced at $4. All seats are reserved.

Watt said total entries in the cattle, sheep, and swine divisions will show a record 8,805 head, compared to 8,269 posted at the 1976 Stock Show. Entries for all divisions last year totaled a record 14,292.

"Horse entries are still being processed," the general manager said, "and we anticipate high figures in this department. The deadline for rabbit, pigeon, and poultry entries is Jan. 15. Indications are that our small stock division will be as great as the record of 4,118 head entered in 1976."

Opening performance of the rodeo is at 8 p.m. Friday, Jan. 28. Saturday, Jan. 29 will feature rodeos at 10 a.m., 2 p.m., and 8 p.m. Then through Sunday, Feb. 6, rodeos will be held at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. daily.

Free Arbor Day Kits Available

With the dead leaves falling and the cold, bleak winter here, it may seem inappropriate to be celebrating one of our most beautiful and versatile resources--trees. But what better time to bring beauty back to the world than during this season of the year.

Arbor Day is a time to plant trees to greet the coming spring. It is time to thank trees for the bounty they have bestowed on our world.

The Texas Forest Service, in celebration of Arbour Day, is offering free Arbor Day Program Kits. Each kit, available only to classroom teachers and program chairmen of conservation-minded organizations, offers a loblolly pine seed packet plus planting instructions and program aids for an Arbor Day observance. Quantity is limited to one kit per teacher or organization.

Program chairmen and teachers should address requests for Arbor Day Kits to the Texas Forest Service, College Station, Texas 77843.

Gained Few Pounds? Don't Crash Diet

Plodding away from the holidays, many people notice they've picked up a few extra pounds. The next step often is a crash diet that could be more harmful than a little fat, the Texas Medical Association says.

Fasting has gotten a lot of attention with its promises of dramatic weight loss. However, several medical authorities stress that the technique can be dangerous unless supervised by a doctor.

This extreme form of dieting most often is recommended only for extremely overweight people, say three physicians writing in the Journal of the American Medical Assoction.

Another doctor writing in the American Journal of Medicine says fasting causes large losses of potassium and sodium. Loss of body chemicals and lack of food can make a person weak and irritable.

Short-term fasting can even cause death if it aggravates an existing medical problem, another doctor writes in Practitioner magazine.

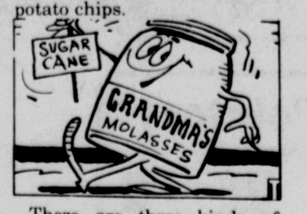
Overweight people often turn to fasting only after other diets fail. People waste more than $100 million annually on useless reducing products. Taking drugs for dieting can be useless and dangerous unless very closely monitored by a physician even after the drugs are prescribed.

A combination of exercise and eating less is still one of the best ways to lose weight. Even this approach can hurt the body if a person doesn't select from the four broad categories of the milk group, vegetable and fruit group, meat group, and bread and cereal group.

Eating sensibly from all these groups adds variety and makes it easier to lose weight and form sensible eating patterns.

FOOD FACTS & FANCIES

Potato chips, it's said, were invented in the last century when a diner kept refusing his French Fries demanding thinner ones. The irate cook sliced them paper thin, fried them up and created the first potato chips.



There are three kinds of molasses, blackstrap, usually used for feeding livestock, ordinary molasses, a by-product of sugar refining that contains sulphur dioxide and unsulphured, such as the kind called Grandma's Molasses, that's the sweetest of the three and is pressed directly from sugar cane.

TJC Adds Course For Night Class

TEMPLE

A credit course in Natural Geography has been added to the spring semester schedule for the Evening Division at Temple Junior College.

W. A. Johannes will be instructor.

The course will include study of the atmosphere and its circulation, energy distribution, land forms, soil development, vegetation and their interrelationship, weather systems, hydrological cycles, and their influence on life forms.

The purpose of the course is to provide the student with a basic knowledge of how the earth's environment operates and how the various systems interrelate, Johanns said. "This information is particularly valuable in understanding current environmental and conservation problems," he said.

Johanns added that it is not a course in political geography and is not learning capitals of states and locations of cities.

It is a non-technical introductory course and there are no prerequisites. The course is designed to give a basic knowledge and understanding of environmental programs, he said.

Natural Geography will be offered from 7 to 9:50 p.m. on Thursdays. Text for the course is "Physical Geography Today: A Portrait of a Planet."

Yoe Cagers Drop Three To Rockdale Tigers

Friday night the Yoe High Cagers traveled to Rockdale to meet the Tigers in district basketball action.

The boys Junior varsity opened the action with Rockdale playing a hard ball-game down to the wire before dropping the game to the Tigers, 34-21. The Yoemen led the game to the half, but fell short in the final two periods and were forced to give up the game. Leading the scoring for the Yoemen were Wayne Steamer and Billy Pittman, both with 8 points.

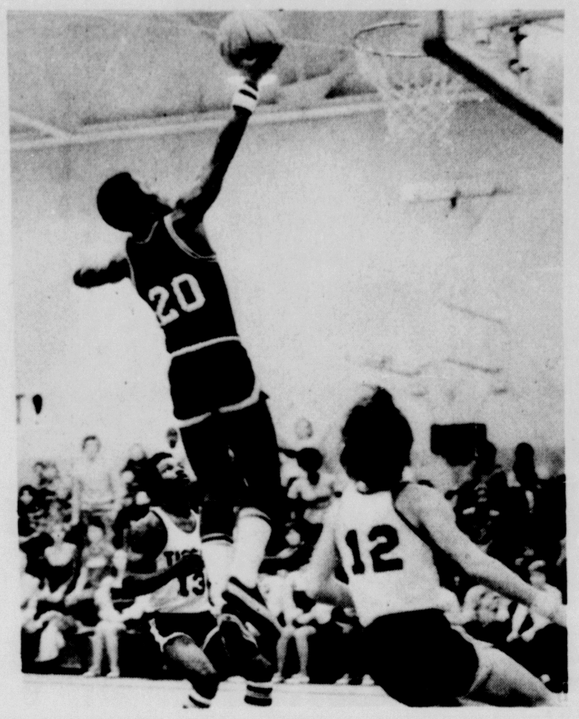
The Yoe varsity roundballers took to the courts for the second game of the night only to be outscored by the Tigers 53-44. Coach Kenneth Poole said, "I thought as a whole we looked good Friday night, real good devensively. Our fouls let the Tigers get ahea d and that was the major factor in our winning or losing.

"Our inexperience really showed up near the end of the final period as we started rushing our shots and only hit 1 of 15 field goal tries. Overall I though we played a good game."

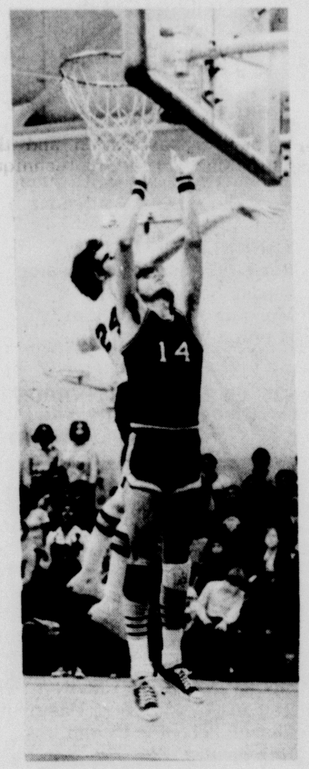
The loss drops the Yoemen to land 2 in district action and 5-11 for the season.

Leading the scoring for the varsity was Errol Spells with 11 points, followed by Greg Kelley with 9. The next home game for the Yoemen will be Friday as they will host Elgin.

The girls varsity closed out the action Friday night, losing their game, 69-28. Leading the scoring for the girls varsity was Tulullah Green with 11 points to her credit while Pam Kimbrel followed closely with 8 points.



ERROL SPELLS, #20, goes high for two points. Spells led the Yoemen scoring against the Rockdale Tigers with 11 points.



#14 GERRY HEITMAN gets inside for two against a Rockdale defender.

Houston Boat And Sport Show To Open

The big 1977 Houston International Boat, Sport & Travel Show opens its doors at noon, Saturday, January 15, for its nine-day stay in the Astrohall. This is the 21st annual show for the sponsoring Boating Trade Association of Metropolitan Houston.

On display will be literally thousands of the new '77 lines of boats and motors. There will be a rig for every taste and budget, from inflatables and sailing dinghies to tall-masted sailing vessels and power yachts. Hundreds of other exhibits will include trailers, marine accessories and services, recreational vehicles, camping gear and electronic equipment; plus many other devices for the outdoorsman.

This annual Houston show is the largest display of marine and sports equipment, all on one level, in the world. The 14 acres of floor space in the Astrohall in the Astrodome complex is packed full. In addition, the 30,000 square feet of meeting room space (located off the North Lobby) hold still more exhibits of boats and recreational vehicles.

Billed as "the best entertainment buy in town" ($2 admission for adults; 75¢ for children under 12), the Houston show has something for every member of the family. The big Hunting & Fishing Information Center, sponsored by the Houston Chronicle, has the top anglers, resort operators, and guides from the most popular fishing-hunting areas within a 300-mile radius of Houston. These experts are on hand to give advice and information. Available here will be maps of lakes and coastal waterways, tips on fishing locations, newest lures, tackle and techniques, launching and camping areas, and all basic facts sportsmen need.

For the younger sportsmen, the Fishorama is stocked with 3000 live Rainbow trout in its icy waters. Sponsored by Lone Star Beer and Radio Station KILT, the small fishermen can fish for ten minutes for a nominal fee and keep their catch. KILT disc jockeys assist the youngsters and proceeds go to charity.

Another popular attraction is the wildlife display containing native Texas fish, birds, and animals along with migratory ducks and geese. Also on display in the Texas Parks & Wildlife Exhibit are most of the state's important reptiles, including the dangerous ones.

For the serious fisherman and sailor, two seminars are scheduled. On Tuesday, January 18, it will be Bass Night with tackle expert Buddy Bradley and the most famous bass film of them all, "Big Mouth," narrated by Rod Serling and produced by Shakespeare. There will be two showings this one night only, 7:30 and 9 p.m. Bass Night is sponsored by Radio Station KTRH.

One of the most popular species at the show will be a loveable chimp by the name of Zippy who will be performing on stage daily. It's pure monkey business as far as Zippy is concern- and his tricts are artistic; his antics hilarious. Zippy is best known for his role as "cheeta" in the Tarzan series.

Sharing billing on stage every day will be the popular, talented musical group, Ray Rogers and Bojangles with Tod Shannon Moody, back at the boat show for a return engagement. The genial host will be KENR's popular Bill Bailey.

On Wednesday, January 19 Bill Shaw will conduct a Sailing Seminar on boat design, the effects of wind and weather on sailing vessels, and a slide presentation. A noted naval architect, Shaw is currently vice-president of Grumman Allied Industries of which Pearson Yachts is a division. Shaw was co-founder of the Midget Ocean Racing Club. Sponsored by Radio Station KQUE, the seminar will be hosted by Howard Williams and Seabrook Shipyard. Seminar time is 7:30 p.m.

Both Bass Night and Sailors Night will be held in Room 118 of the Astrohall.

No show aimed at water lovers can be without mermaids and the Houston boat Show will have 30 beautiful contestants vying for the title of 1977 iss Mermaid. The preliminary judging will be Monday, January 17, at 9 p.m.; the final judging for winner and first and second runners up will be Thursday, January 20, also at 9. Winners will receive $15000 in cash and prizes.

A day or two at the Houston International Boat, Sport & Travel Show, January 15 through 23, is full of fun, education, beauty, and acres of marine and sports displays. Show hours are noon-11 p.m. Saturdays; noon-9 p.m. on the first Sunday (16)' 5-10 p.m. Monday through Thursday; 5-11 p.m. Friday; and noon-6 p.m. the final Sunday (23). Tickets are available at the door and at all seven Foley's ticket centers. Special discount tickets are available at any Boating Trade Association member dealership.

Why is Texas Power & Light asking for a rate increase?

On December 22, 1976, Texas Power & Light Company applied to all incorporated cities and towns it serves and to the Public Utility Commission of Texas for authority to increase its rates for electric service.

The rate schedules will result in a 34 percent increase in the average rates charged. However, due to greater customer conservation, the rate changes are expected to increase the adjusted gross revenue of Texas Power & Light Company by 27 percent.

In coming weeks, our application will be under consideration by the cities and towns served by the Company and by the Public Utility Commission.

Texas Power & Light wants you to know why we are asking for this rate increase.

1 TP&L MUST CHANGE THE FUELS NEEDED TO PRODUCE ELECTRICITY FROM NATURAL GAS . . .
1. The State of Texas requires a phase out of the use of natural gas for generation of electricity.
2. Gas supplies are limited.
3. Rising cost of gas: Our average cost in 1974, $.48 per million BTU's; in 1975, $.69 per million BTU's; in 1976, $1.21 per million BTU's. New supplies cost $2.00 per million BTU's.

. . . TO LIGNITE AND NUCLEAR POWER
1. A large supply of lignite is available in Texas.
2. Lignite is cheaper. Average cost in 1976 was $.27 per million BTU's.
3. The use of lignite instead of gas saved our customers $80 million in one year.
4. The future also favors nuclear power as a cheaper means of producing electricity. First nuclear unit in 1981.

2 TP&L MUST BUILD MORE ELECTRICITY PRODUCING PLANTS
1. Our customers are increasing at the rate of over 20,000 per year, and . . .
2. The demand for electricity will double in 10 years.
3. Plants using high-priced natural gas must be phased out, held for peak-use periods, or rebuilt to use coal.

3 THE COSTS OF NEW PLANTS ARE INCREASING
1. Today, lignite plants cost 3 times as much as gas-fueled plants: in 1972, $135 per kilowatt; in 1975-80, $275 per kilowatt*; in 1980-85, $450 per kilowatt*
2. Nuclear plants cost 6 times as much as gas-fueled plants: in 1981-83, $600 per kilowatt*
3. Our construction costs have increased from $64 million in 1968, to $269 million in 1976, to $299 million in 1977*.

4 TP&L MUST INSTALL COSTLY POLLUTION-CONTROL DEVICES
1. Government regulations now require pollution-control devices that cost millions of dollars.
2. On a new plant in 1972, anti-pollution devices cost $2.50 per kilowatt. Today, these costs have jumped to $62.00 per kilowatt.
3. On four units now under construction, cost of anti-pollution devices will be $186,000,000.
4. Anti-pollution devices increase generating costs 15 to 20%.

5 TP&L MUST STAY FINANCIALLY STRONG IF WE ARE TO PROVIDE FOR THE FUTURE, BUT . . .
1. Interest coverage (earnings available to pay interest) is down from 6 times in 1968 to 3 times in 1976.
2. Average interest cost is up from 4.3% in 1968 to 7.6% in 1976.
3. Rate of return on investment is not adequate.

TP&L'S PRESENT RATES WILL NOT SUPPORT . . .
- COSTS TO MEET INCREASING CUSTOMER DEMAND FOR ELECTRICITY
- CONSTRUCTION COSTS NECESSARY TO CHANGE FUELS USED TO PRODUCE ELECTRICITY
- AN ADEQUATE RETURN ON INVESTMENT, NOR A RETURN NECESSARY TO ATTRACT NEW INVESTMENT DOLLARS

Loan Company Lobbyists Seek Higher Interest Rate

"Finance companies are trying to pass a bill that will legalize loan sharking in Texas and clog the courts," said Senator Bill Patman of Ganado today.

"Loa n company lobbyist have publicly called for raises in present interest rate limits to enable them to charge Texas borrowers as much as 25% more than the extra-high rates they are already gouging them with. The cha ges on a 37-month loan of $1,000 would increase from $339.17 to $425.50 under the loan company proposal.

"Only $165,87 can be charged for the same loan under the constitutional 10% limit, but in 1967 the Legislature authorized the $339.17 finance companies now charge. Under the 1960 amendment to the Texas constitution, the limit of 10% only applies where the Legislature does not legalize higher rates.

"The Legislature is now unlimited by the constitution as to the interest rates it may authorize.

"Without new legislation, the loan sharking penalty for deliberately charging such outrageous interest ($425.50) would be $851 plus reasonable attorneys' fees fixed by the court.

"The loan company bill will not only permit the lenders to escape the penalty of $851 and the attorneys' fees but will enable the finance companies to go to Texas courts to enforce such unconscionable contracts," said Sen. Patman.

"Our already overcrowded court dockets will swell from lawsuits brought by loan companies to enforce the higher rates. The administration of justice will suffer throughout Texas.

"It is particularly inappropriate for loan companies to be seeking higher rates at this time. Their own borrowing costs have been sharply reduced in recent months. The prime rate has gone down from 12% in July of 1974 to 5.78% in October 1976 (latest month for which figures are availabe)-- a decline of 43.5%.

"Yet these powerful special interests have served notice they intend to pressure legislators for a sharp increase in interest rates imposed upon Texas families," Senator Patman said.

"The battle against high interest rates will be more severe this coming Session than any in recent years. Unless people throughout our state get in touch with their legislators and other public officials, the loan industry will prevail.

"I urge the people of Texas to react strongly and contact immediately their senators and representatives, asking their opposition to the loan company bill."

Students interested in a competition is tough, accordcareer in law should be aware ing to a new State Bar of that there is no shortage of Texas publucation announced lawyers in Texas and the job today by State Bar President Gibson Gayle Jr. of Houston.

"Job hunting is very competitive because approximately 2,000 new lawyers are licensed in Texas each year, warns the brochure entitled, "You, Your Career and the Legal Profession." It adds: "Law graduates should be ready to consider a full range of employment options if they are to be successful in their job search."

The brochure, prepared in cooperation with the University of Texas Law School Placement Office, was produced as a public service by the State Bar. Individual copies may be obtained free, and bulk orders may be made at a cost of $4 per 100 plus shipping costs, from: Law Pamphlet, State Bar of Texas, P.O. Box 12487, Austin, TX 78711.

Gayle said the brochure was prepared to meet the growing interest in law careers.

"Intensified news media coverage of legal topics, along with increased emphasis on career education in public schools, have heightened stu ious types of careers in law," Gayle said.

The brochure outlines educational requirements for law yers, cost of legal education, and the differing careers available to law graduates, including:

Private practice--ranging from a one-person law office to associating with a firm of more than 100 lawyers, with practice opportunities including such office legal work as preparation of contracts and wills or court appearances to represent a client or argue an appeal.

Corporate law--employment in the law department of a large business, performing legal work as varied as the activities of the company.

Government employment--including federal, state, or local government jobs involving such activities as hearings conducted by a regulatory agency, prosecution of criminal defendants, representation of government agencies in court, drafting regulations or ordinances, and evaluatin g the the legal aspects of policy decisions or other actions by a governing body or its administrator.

Alternative practice--representation of individuals and groups generally not involved in the legal system, such as the poor, ethnic minorities, consumer and citizen environmental groups, through such organizations as legal services programs or public interest law practices.

Academic positions--including law professors, law librarians, editors, and administrators.

Military service--legal offices of the armed services offer benefits which may be more appealing to new lawyers in a time when legal employment opportunities are limited.

Other opportunities--including use of a law degree in other fields such as journalism, industry, advertising, banking, politics, administration, or accounting.

The brochure also includes the names and addresses of all eight law schools in Texas and a list of books helpful in understanding the various types of legal careers.

Tax Form Due For Farmers, Fishermen

Farmers and fishermen who have not filed their 1976 declaration of estimated Federal income tax must file and pay that tax by Monday, January 17. The sole exception to this rule is if they file their income tax return and pay the total due by March 1, the Internal Revenue Service said today.

Farmers and fishermen are defined as those persons who earned at least two-thirds of their 1976 gross income from farming or fishing.

IRS Publications 225, "Farmer's Tax Guide," 595, "Tax Guide for Commercial Fishermen," and 505, "Tax Withholding and Declaration of Estimated Tax," provide additional information and are available free at local IRS offices.

School Set For Bankers On Ag Loans

Texas bankers involved in making agricultura l loans need firsthand knowledge about what's down the road for varios agricultural commodities. And that's just what they're going to get at the 25th Texas Farm and Ranch Credit School for Commercial Bankers, Feb. 7-9, at Texas A&M University.

A special session will provide "outlook" information on livestock, grain, cotton, and the money market, explains Dr. Richard Trimble, Extension economist in management and the school's publicity chairman. Speakers for the session include Michael Jeane, vice-president and economist, First City National Bank, Houston; Calvin Brints, president, Cotton Marketing Corporation, Lubbock; and Dr. Ernest Davis, Dr. Randall Stelly, Roland Smith, and Dr. Ed Uvacek, all Extension economists.

"We think this session will be of special interest to bankers since it will give them an idea of what to expect in these areas in the coming months," notes Trimble.

"Many of the decisions bankers will have tomake during the year will be based on this kind of 'outlook' information."

Other features of the school will include sessions on loans for field crops, cow-calf operations, feedlots, grain storage and warehousing, diarying and rice production. Attending bankers will also learn about dealer methods of financing farm equipment, correspondendt banking relationships, frmers and outside equity capital, and the banker and his customer.

The Lonely Heart

Regulations Topic For Cotton Meet

Two major regulatory issues affecting the cotton industry will be reviewed for National Cotton Council delegates during a current events seminar Jan. 30 in Florida.

Dr. Ed Hobson, Washington representative for Shell Chemical Company, will speak on "Over-regulation of Agriculture" with special emphasis on rulings relating to pesticides.

Maynard Dolloff, agricultural liaison with the Occupational Safety and Health Administration, Washington, will discuss the proposed new cotton dust standard.

A question-and-answer session will follow the reports.

The seminar will run from 1:30 to 3 p.m. in the Continental Room of the Contemporary Resort Hotel on the eve of the Council's annual meeting Jan. 31-Feb. 1.

More than 1,500 cotton leaders from across the Belt are expected to attend. Guest speakers will include Agriculture Secretary-Designate Bob Bergland of Minnesota.
